

Physiotherapy and Sports Injury Clinic

Henry (a physiotherapist and a certified acupuncturist), David (an occupational therapist), Elizabeth (a physiotherapist and a massage therapist) and Joan (a physiotherapist specializes in sport injury and pain management), all study at the same University in the area of physiotherapy, sport injury and occupation therapy. Henry and David were roommate and best friends. After they all graduated, they all went on separate paths except Henry and David; they kept in touch with each other. In one homecoming event all four of them got a chance to get together and did some catching up with what everyone was doing and lives in general.

Henry and David has always dream of having their own clinic but never got around to doing it, beside trying to find a good and trusted partner was difficult until they got together at the homecoming event and found out that all of them wanted to have their own practice/clinic but was trying to find partners to form a clinic.

So, they all got together and created a plan to have their dream come true. In the plan, one item was to create a website that would help them in promoting their clinic, i.e. who they are (their credentials), what are their services, and they would like to provide tips and tricks on prevention of sports injuries and work-related injuries. They would also like their website to provide some feedback/suggestion mechanism so that they can better serve their clients by knowing the area of needs and services is required.

You as the selected web design and development team will needs to help them in creating a website that will meet all their goals and what they would like to achieve using the website. You will also need to write a full design and development report so that they have a reference on how the website were designed and developed so that they can follow up with future design and development with their website.
